

GRUB STREET

April 5, 2013

Celebrities feasted in all forms this week — power-lunching, day-drinking, and fine-dining. Kevin Spacey ordered a round of shots at Hudson Common; J. Law smoked cigarettes outside of Bacaro; Jonah Hill "tried really hard to woo" his date at Joe's Shanghai; and Lady Gaga's hip was miraculously healed after ordering three twenty-ounce smoothies from Juice Generation. "Monstrous thirst" and more in our weekly guide to celebrity dining.

Bagatelle: Michael Strahan, fiancée Nicole Murphy, and friends ordered lobster omelettes and pancake short-rib sandwiches, while day-drinking Moet Champagne and tequila at this meatpacking district restaurant. The group "sang and danced" until about 6 p.m., at which point we assume they all went home to take a nap. [NYDN]